Smart And Pretty

Congratulations are being showered on Mrs. Jan Shears, following her selection by the Ohio Education Association as one of 12 model teachers in the nation to attend an awards program in New York City Dec. 3.

The pert, pretty Leetonia school marm, who is living proof that beauty and brains do mix, is a Kent State graduate skilled in the newest ungraded system of teaching, which is fast-becoming popular and successful in many school systems, including Salem. Leetonia pioneered in it, under the direction of its superintendent, Victor

Truck Lane Needed

A not too uncommon occurence was experienceu again by Alternate Route 14 motorists haveing from washingtonvine to saiem yesieruay.

rive or six of the westbound venicles got behind a slow-moving truck which, of necessity, had to snift gear frequently on the hilly terrain. Other automobiles and trucks came up behind the slow-moving caravan. The number mounted until, by the time the procession had reached the Salem city limits about 10 minutes later, the contingent included some 40 disgruntled motorists, several of whom were possibly late to business appointments because of the delay.

There must be a solution to the problem of congested highway conditions in situations such as this. We turn to the Ohio State Highway Department to inquire about the proposed construction of a truck lane which was recommended and under consideration a few years ago. The need is quite apparent to ease congested slow lanes on the much-traveled highway and to avert possible tragic accidents which could occur - and have - when a driver tries to pass the line of traffic ahead. The extra lane for truck pull-overs is especfally needed on the long hill just east of

Before we have learned to make a ernment of Fulgencio Batista, which the knowledgeable stab at the names of the United States has been supporting, was oppressive and corrupt. The Cuban revolution was as inevitable as the overthrow Duong Van Minh - our government has of an oppressive and corrupt government in South Viet Nam. Batista had to go.

> BUT WHEN BATISTA had been overthrown in Cuba, the liberators remembered how the United States had helped Batista, not how it helped them. They are not grateful to the United States for recognizing their new regime but suspicious of it for having played footsie with the old

And because the old regime had maintained itself in the only way there is for governments to maintain themselves in unsettled countries - by force - the new regime was obliged to maintain itself the same way. It quickly became clear that the Cubans had replaced one dictator with another.

Subsequently it became clear that the new dictator, being both shrewd and unscrupulous, was capable of playing both ends against the middle, like Tito of Yugoslavia and Nasser of Egypt.

TO THIS END, he made a better deal with the Soviet Union than he had a chance to make the United States and the fat was in the fire. Instead of fighting Communism somewhere else, the United States was fighting it in Cuba.

Long live Nguen Ngoc Tho and Duong Van Minh. May the fat not fall in the fire quite so soon this time.

Congress Still There?

Tempers frayed out in the Senate last week over accusations and counter-accusations of obstructionism.

By the end of the week it had become obvious that Congress, to all intents and purposes, isn't going to do anything the rest of the year, except routine work on appropriation bills.

The tax bill and civil rights bill are going to be jammed up. With a Christmas recess scheduled for Dec. 20, there won't be time to get anything done.

But a curious thing has happened. No one expects anything else. It has been taken for granted for weeks that this session of Congress would bog down because the Democratic party simply lacks the ability to constitute a government, though it has a Democratic majority in both the House and Senate and a Democratic president in the White House.

This could be the key issue in 1964this demonstrated inability to constitute ers plying the avocation, I am being for burlesque and gamey joints in big asked with leers and sneers what I think about the prospect of topless swim suits within five years, as reported recently by Associated Press in a roundup of fashion

If the purpose of the information had been to paralyze us girl-watchers with horror, the job couldn't have been done better. I haven't watched girls in swim suits since they came out with teenyweeny bikinis because the fools had taken all the fun away by revealing too much.

What needs to be understood is the difference between girl-watchers and dolly-

A DOLLY OGLER never misses a burlesque show if he is within 100 miles. He is a steady patron of all joints that specialize in watered-down drinks and beefedup females

He has a collection of thinly draped and not draped at all pictures of dollies in his desk. He subscribes to at least one magazine that caters to his voracious appetite for bare flesh.

A dolly-ogler never admits too much is understood girl-watchers, I want it un- the luckless many

As one of the most relentless girl-watch- derstood we think topless swim suits are cities where no holds are barred. They've been unwearing them there for years.

Self-respecting and law - abiding girlwatchers are not interested in how many square feet of girl is placed on display but in how much all-around charm she exudes. We watch 'em bundled up in coats, wrapped in blankets at football games, in house coats with their hair in curlers, if need be.

We watch 'em majoretting and cheerleading. We watch them on horseback, in party dresses, in blue jeans. We have no compunctions about watching them in swim suits, but we'd rather they would be in the water. We feel embarrassed for them when they're being ogled.

That's not girl-watching. That's babybeef judging - county fair stuff.

A GIRL-WATCHER is appraising, not surveying. He is romanticizing, not taking inventory. He is admiring the whole scene, not the particulars.

As for topless swim suits, may mercy descend on us all because of the foolish bunnies wearing them - or unwearing them - who should have thought twice and hit the beaches in bathrobes. ### Press Helped Set Record

By VICTOR RIESEL

An urgent telegram from rocket and missile cameramen at Cape Canaveral reached President Kennedy on Wednes-

Victor Riesel nauts will some day blast off to the moon. The wire said that the strikers, "recognizing the vital importance of moonport to our country," wanted binding arbitration. The strikers then requested that the President submit the dispute to "final and binding arbitration, with Victor Riesel . . . to act as impartial with additional members of his considered noteworthy." choice.

I'm willing to help because I'm opposed to stoppages at our missile and space bases. Arbitration is sometimes distasteful. But it is far better than being wasteful with the American talent, time and money going into the space

THIS STRIKE of members of Local 780 and other members of the International Alliance of Stage and Theatrical Employes, is one of the few which have hit our defense and space systems recently. Some 50,000 men and women are working on our rockets and space port facilities and their record im the last year has been 9.92 per cent

I want to report this now - and give some other impressive a firm "no-strike" pledge in statistics vital to our survival -because my good friend Neil Haggerty, leader of some three million construction workers, had some sharp things to say about the space situation and about the American press at the Building and Construction Trades Dept. (AFL-CIO) national convention in New York the other day. "Perhaps the best evidence that the record is nearly perfect," said Haggerty, "is provided by the utter silence of the daily press on this subject. When conditions at the missile sites were stormy and unsettled, the newspapers carried top headlines every day warning of disaster unless drastic legislation were enacted to curb the rights of labor. 'Now that labor has done a magnificent job and made a great contribution to the safety and security of the American chairman of arbitration p a n e l people, the subject is no longer

> CERTAINLY it's newsworthy that Haggerty can report that f 30,762,400 man days worked on missile and test sites in the lst two years, there was a loss of only 26,158 man days because of strikes.

This set a ratio of 1.176 man days worked for every one day lost in disputes. The strike record for private industry is not as good. The figure for all construction work in the United States is 166 man days worked for every one lost in a walkout. Thus the record for missile sites is 700 per cent better than for civilian construction. There is the story. It's startling. It's exciting to know that there are 1200 per cent fewer

But the fact that this has not been told previously is hardly reason for Neil Haggerty and his colleagues to lash out at the press for having reported the earlier strike wave.

STRIKES GOT out of hand in the four years following the launching of construction at Cape Canaveral in 1956. There were unreasonable stoppages. There was refusal to install prefabricated communication equipment in certain complexes at Canaveral. There was slow work. Between 1956 and 1961, there were more than 325 work stoppages at 19 Air Force operational sites and three test sites. One half the huge amount of man days wasted through strikes was lost at Canaveral where ICBM and space rockets were being tested before becoming operational

The resultant slowing of work rolled up fantastic overtime. Journeymen electricians collected $748 a week; truckdrivers $324 a week; and ditchdiggers $287 a week. These were exceptions, but they tell a story, too. It got to the point where

Haggerty told affiliated locals: "I say to you as strongly as I can that there is absolutely no justification or valid excuse for a work stoppage at any missile base at any time."

In effect, that is what the newspapers were saying. That was the story then. We are delighted to learn from Neil Haggerty that the record is almost perfect now.

Perhaps on reexamining the old record, Haggerty will be equally willing to recognize that strikes now than before the nathe nation's press helped sometional construction leaders gave what in making the new record.

Change Wanted?

By DAVID LAWRENCE President Kennedy would be overwhelmingly defeated if the presidential election were held today and the standards of judgment and the system prevailing in othe r Englishspeaking democracies such as Canada or Great Britain were applied. The Dem-par- David Lawrence ty, which holds 67 per cent of the membership of the Senate and almost 60 per cent of the House of Representatives, has failed after more than 10 months of continuous sessions to pass the legislative program proposed by its titular leader, President Kennedy.

The truth is the chosen representatives of the Democratic party have been unwilling to use their clear majority of votes to adopt the recommendations of the Presiddnt, either because the voters of the country do not approve or because the legislators have themselves mistakenly interpreted the wishes of the people.

When a party in power under the parliamentary system fails, it's customary for the nation to turn that party out of power in an election called whenever the voters really demand it. Under the American system, there is no such way to fix responsibility.

It cannot be determined immediately whether the President is at fault for having failed to exercise effective leadership within his party. Nor can it be determined for two years after an election whether Congress has really been heeding the voices of the citizens in disapproval of the president's policies or whether the Democrats in Congress have misconstrued the wishes of the people in holding up many of the measures proposed by the executive branch of the government.

It often has been argued that, in the United States, a president who cannot control his own party in Congress can look to the opposition party to gain enough votes so that a coalition will form a majority and adopt his program.

THE FACT is that an unorganized coalition of Republicans and Democrats in both houses of Congress has actually emerged on several controversial questions as an opposition majority to block passage or gram proposed by the Demodemand substantial changes in cratic party's national leader can even be considered for pas- ship.

The Democratic party in Congress today, moreover, not only possesses a clear majority but controls every committee in both houses. In committees, too, a combination of two parties can block action and actually is doing so today in many instances.

So, for all practical purposes, the coalition majority is, in effect repudiating the policies of the Democratic party leader -President Kennedy.

In other countries, this repudiation would be accepted as sufficient reason for asking the country by its votes to decide at once whether a new prime minister should be chosen from the opposition party or whether the existing majority party should be given a vote of confidence and permitted to keep its leader or select a new one from its own party. Thus, the people do the deciding, and they hold the incumbent party or its leader responsible. Today in the United States. however, the nation has no clear idea of who is responsible for the stalemat in government. leadership is fuzzy.

The talk in the press is that President Kennedy is popular, and the public-opinion polls are cited to support the idea but a foreign observer would ask how a president can be popular if he cannot command a majority in the national legislature.

IN OFF - YEAR elections, when the names of the presidential nominees are not on the ballot, a clear-cut example of a mandate is rarely furnished by the electorate. Indeed, in the November 1862 congressional elections there were more Republican than Democratic votes cast in the regions outside the Solid South, but the Democratic party nevertheless furnished enough members to make virtually a two-thirds majority. Yet everybody knev that Southern congressmen don't agree with the administration's viewpoint.

When, however, the Demoirats retained their majorities in both houses of Congress in the national election in 1962, this was hailed by Mr. Kennedy's supporters as a victory for him. Yet today - 12 months laterthe Democratic party has failed to get the support of its majority in both houses to pass the legislation the President has demanded.

The conclusion that would be drawn abroad is that the people of this country, through their congressional representatives, disapprove of the legislative propending measures before they and want a change in leader-

CHEVROLET Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?

Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheelbases. Best riding truck, by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have doublewall construction. Chevrolet Fleetsidebest for all-around use.

RAMPSIDE. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and framefloor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp aircooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size.

Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payloads. Standard engine is 230-cu.-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283

V8 is available at extra cost.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it—the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish: bucket seats, air onditioning, 4-speed transmission, power orakes are some of its extra-cost options.

Salem Opens Season Dec. 7

Coach Seeks 5 Boys Who'll Jell Together

By MARK MILLER

"They (Salem) are farther behind at this point than any that I have coached here," said Coach John Cabas just minutes before a practice session Tuesday.

At the initial basketball call, 87 prospects showed up for drills. Since then, 11 days ago, the squad has been cut to 43 candidates and will be down to 40 in the near future.

Not one letterman is back, so Cabas has his work cut out for him before the season's opener with defending state champion Columbus East at the Salem Senior High gymnasium Dec. 7.

"We wanted to get an early look at George Begalla, Jim Lantz and Rick Klepper, but we will have to wait until injuries they received during football are healed," declared Cabas.

SOPHOMORE JIM MILLER, 6-3, is the tallest boy available. He has shown promise in drills thus far. Cabas and his assistant Karl Zellers pointed out that There are only three seniors and nine juniors working out.

Three Teams Enter Slo-Break Cage Loop

In the first meeting held Tuesday evening at the Memorial building, three teams entered the Slo-Break basketball league and five teams entered the Class A league. Teams entered in Slo-Break are Bricker & Bricker, Globe Packing and one team not named as yet.

In Class A they are: Berlin Center, Zahrndt real estate, First National Bank, Old Dutch, Bud Shaffer Ford and one other team for which a sponsor has not been chosen.

Final meeting on these leagues will be held at the Memorial Building on Tuesday at 8 p.m. At this time anyone interested in joining the leagues should be present. Practice sessions can be arranged starting Nov. 18 by telephoning or stopping at the Memorial Building.

chosen the team's most valuable player. Other awards went to (l. to r.) Floyd Saltsman, offensive back; Ed Derenberger, defensive lineman; Roger Diddle, defensive back; Dick Whittington, offensive lineman and Dick Shearer, a tri-captain for his loyalty and teamwork.

He got in touch with a few old sports cronies and they went to a field which Reid used as a cow pasture. There about three short holes of about 100 yards were laid out on the hilly ground and cups were dug with the head of a cleek.

There weren't enough clubs for everybody, so they were divided. Two men played while the others watched.

Reid's circle grew. Other clubs were ordered. Finally, it was decidtd a new course was needed. A cow pasture owned by a local butcher was selected at the northeast corner of Broadway and Shonnard Place. Six holes were laid out.

The greens were squares about 12 feet in diameter and not any smoother than the rest of the course.

The St. Andrews Golf Club was founded at a dinner at Reid's home Nov. 14, 1888-exactly 75 years ago tonight. Reid was elected president.

In 1892 the City of Yonkers decided to extend Palisade Avenue farther north. Since this cut through the middle of the course, it was necessary to move again. This time the site was an apple orchard a quarter of a mile up the road.

A tent was pitched near the first tee and a big apple tree stood nearby where players ofte hung their jackets during hot weather. The players became tle and was a member of the known as the "Apple Tree Gang.

St. Andrews later moved to a spot on the Sawmill River Road and finally to its present location at Hasting s-on-Hudson, where a full 18-hole course and stately club house were built.

TURKEY TALK

Turkey to all of us is as old and traditional as America's first Thanksgiving, when our Pilgrim Fathers chose to honor and praise the Almighty through keeping a day of feasting and Thanksgiving for the harvest He had given them.

Since they offered the best they had likewise behooves us to do the same for the Thanksgiving meal.

Because turkey is the most important item of the meal, we here at Witmer's have carefully selected the finest and broadest strains known to us, and have carefully fed and raised them so as to bring out the finest in taste and flavor.

So why not have a fine, fresh dressed turkey direct from Witmer's Farm, where you know their origin and are guaranteed to be good.

Order Early From Us or from
